

Information sheet on the mitigation of financial emergencies caused by the Corona pandemic

As a result of the Corona pandemic, many students experience a sometimes considerable worsening of their financial situation, e.g. through terminations of employment by their employer, suspension of employment or a collapse of the financial situation in case of self-employment.

With this information sheet, we would like to give you an overview of (short-term) financing options you can consider and provide tips on how you can organize your ongoing costs in the corona pandemic.

Bridging aid for students in financial emergency situations from The Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF)

The BMBF's €100 million bridging aid is intended to help those students who are demonstrably in an acute, pandemic-related emergency situation and who need immediate help. The bridging assistance can be applied for by German and foreign students enrolled at state and state-recognized universities in Germany. Depending on proven need, between 100 euros and 500 euros can be paid as a non-repayable grant. Further information can be found here.

If you are in acute need up to the time of approval, if your application for a bridging allowance is rejected, or if your income has been lost for reasons other than those considered by the bridging allowance, please contact our Student Finance Advisory Center - BeSt

Federal interim financial aid (Überbrückungshilfe) - Grant from the Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF)

The federal interim financial aid was available until 30.09.2020, according to the BMBF, is to start again in November 2020.. Further information can be found here. Should you find yourself in a financial emergency or require information on financing your studies, please contact our Counselling Centre for Study Financing – BeSt.

Applying for BAföG:

International students unfortunately are not eligible for BAföG benefits in most cases. One of the requirements that must be met in order to receive BAföG is nationality. You can find more information on this here.

General information on BAföG you can find here: www.bafög.de.

Working:

Even during the Corona pandemic, you may be able to get a job. On the one hand, you can check the usual online job portals, e.g. <https://www.stellenwerk-hamburg.de>, <https://www.jobcafe.de>, <https://jobboerse.arbeitsagentur.de>, <https://jobs.meinestadt.de/hamburg>, <https://de.indeed.com/>.

In addition, there are currently areas that have increased recruiting. Try to apply there: delivery services for food and beverages, supermarkets, grocery stores, logistics, cleaning companies, petrol stations.

On our website you will find answers to numerous questions about working in times of Corona such as: Which students are entitled to social benefits? Can students who are released from their jobs take on another job during this time? Do students receive short-time work compensation? Can students work more than 20 hours because the start of the lecture period has been postponed? Do self-employed students have any claims for compensation?

Deferral of payment for health insurance or offer of payment by instalments:

Health insurance coverage is a prerequisite for enrolment/registration. If students in the compulsory student insurance do not pay their contributions, the health insurance company can suspend the health insurance cover and must inform the university. In such cases, the student may be threatened with de-registration. In addition, the suspension of insurance cover has dire consequences for all insured persons, regardless of the tariff, in times of a pandemic, as only emergency treatment is covered.

If you are currently unable to pay your contribution due to the effects of the pandemic, please contact your health insurance company immediately and request a deferral of your payments; this is currently also possible via e-mail. Under certain circumstances, the health insurance company may require you to provide proof. If your request for a deferral is rejected, try to arrange for payment in instalments as an alternative.

Please note: If you already had payment difficulties before the COVID 19 pandemic and, for example, have agreed to pay in instalments, you must clarify your options with your health insurance company. It may be helpful to at least partially cover older debts so that the current contribution payments can be deferred or paid in instalments.

Further study financing options:

The Housing Benefit (Wohngeld) as a subsidy for rent is only possible in certain constellations (see further information here; only available in German). When examining the entitlement to the Housing Benefit, the type of housing and the amount of rent are just as important as the type and amount of income and assets, as well as the question of why BAföG is not granted. Thus, the loss of employment income or income from self-employment does not automatically lead to a Housing Benefit claim. International students with a residence permit for the purpose of study/"visa" must have the required means of subsistence without the Housing Benefit and should seek advice at Studierendenwerk Hamburg before applying for the Housing Benefit to avoid that the Foreigners Registration Department withdraws the residence permit and requests to leave the country. You can find your competent Housing Benefit office here.

The Bildungskredit is a loan from the KfW-Förderbank. Students who fulfil the criteria for BAföG on the basis of their residence permit, are entitled to submit an application. Students with a residence permit for the purpose of study/"visa" are not eligible.

The Bildungskredit must be repaid four years after the first disbursement in monthly instalments of EUR 120. The interest rate is currently 0.52 %. You can also get a one-time payment of up to EUR 3.600. You can only apply for the one-time payment for study-related costs, such as laptop, software, specialist literature, semester contribution, tuition fees, costs for semesters abroad (even in advance), if this is required or recommended, costs for a compulsory internship at another location, other study-related costs. You don't need to submit receipts for these costs.

Applications must be submitted to the Bundesverwaltungsamt under www.bildungskredit.de.

The KfW Studienkredit is a loan from the KfW-Förderbank. From 1st of July 2020 on all students who study at a German university and who are not older than 44 years at the beginning of their studies, can apply for the KfW-Studienkredit. Monthly disbursements between EUR

100 and EUR 650 are possible during the period of study. The repayment starts 18 months after the last disbursement.

From 1.5.2020 to 31.12.2021 the KfW Studienkredit is interest-free and is also open to those not yet entitled to it (especially international students, students with a refugee background). But from 1.1.2022 onwards interest has to be paid. The deadline for online application is 15.2.2021.

Applications must be submitted to KfW-Förderbank here (Information in English language) and here (application). We recommend that you seek advice beforehand from the Studierendenwerk Hamburg, Counselling Centre for study financing - BeSt. There you can also conclude the contract. Further information: here.

Loans from the loan fund (Darlehenskasse): The Studierendenwerk Hamburg maintains a loan fund and can use these funds to bridge various emergencies, e.g. the period of the graduation phase. Further information: here

Scholarships are a very inexpensive form of financing your studies, but almost always have a long application phase and therefore do not represent a short-term financing option. For your medium-term financial planning, you can find additional information here.

International students (students with a stay for the purpose of study/"visa", students from the EU/EEA, students with refugee background): You can find information on financing your studies here.

Students with children should urgently have their entitlement to a Children's Allowance (Kinderzuschlag) checked. The application has currently been simplified due to the effects of the Coronavirus. Detailed information on the so-called "Notfall-KiZ" you can find here (only available in German). For questions regarding your entitlement and the application procedure, please contact the Familienkasse Nord. In addition, due to the changed income situation in the family, supplementary benefits from unemployment benefit II (ALG II) and/or Wohngeld may be considered under certain circumstances. Students with a residence permit for the purpose of study/"visa" are not eligible for Kinderzuschlag and unemployment benefit II (ALG II).
